

Last-click commissions over lifetime links

Blair, Trin & Emmie · Aug 1 – Sep 4, 2026

When a customer clicks Blair, Trin, or Emmie's affiliate link, that referral cookie takes priority over an existing lifetime link to another affiliate. On these orders, the customer returned within the cookie window and commission went to whoever's link was clicked last — not to the affiliate who held the lifetime link.

67 orders · $2,338.86 in sale commissions earned by Blair, Trin, or Emmie because their link was the last click — overriding another affiliate's lifetime link.

How this works

Step	What happened	Result
1	Customer was previously linked to another affiliate for lifetime commissions	That affiliate would earn on a return visit with no new link click
2	Customer later clicks Blair, Trin, or Emmie's link	A 30-day referral cookie is set
3	Customer places an order within the cookie window	Last-click cookie beats the lifetime link
4	Commission on this order	Blair / Trin / Emmie earns their sale rate (30% or 40%)

Lifetime links overridden

Lifetime link belonged to	Orders	Commission to Blair / Trin / Emmie
#15	65	$2,238.35
#84	4	$0.00
#25	2	$82.67
#146	2	$105.59
#181	2	$19.50
#2	1	$19.50
#103	1	$19.50
#13	1	$18.00
#93	1	$48.00

Other affiliates only — does not include lifetime links held by Blair, Trin, or Emmie. The lifetime affiliate would have earned at the lower lifetime rate (~10%) on a naked return visit; the last-click affiliate earned their full sale rate on these orders.